30 INDICTMENTS REFUSED

Kings County Jury Frees Flask Prisoners—Second Jury Trial Acquits.

Police are satisfied a majority of liquor sellers and other violators of the new State prohibition law have run to cover. Deputy Commissioner Leach said yesterday the police drive has been particularly successful in the case of the big, well known places where drinks have been easily purchasable for months past.

The Commissioner said there is no intention on the part of the Police Department to relax its activities. One hundred and sixty-eight patrolmen were detailed yesterday to guard raided premises.

The flying squadron, of which Inspector McDonald commands yesterday morning, starts with a nucleus of forty men, which will be expanded to 200. It will travel on foot, by subway, automobile and motorcycle, and will be especially watchful of bootleggers.

The Kings County Grand Jury refused yesterday to return indictments in thirty out of forty-nine liquor cases, and in the Kings County Court the second case brought to trial by jury resulted in acquittal. The Grand Jury found forty-eight cases and bringing in thirty-nine indictments, covering every infraction of the State liquor law.

Brooklyn cases dismissed were those in which the defendant was found in the possession of intoxicants for his own use. Among those discharged were persons carrying liquor on the hip and several found drinking in restaurants. Sixty-nine takersmen had to be examined before a jury could be found to try Harry Meyer of Tompkins avenue in Brooklyn, in the Kings County Court before Judge Mitchell. Harry Meyer, formerly a bartender at Halsey street and Tompkins avenue, was said to be in charge of the place where two bottles of liquor were found there by raiding officers. He denied knowing anything about the liquor. It took the jury twenty minutes to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

Magistrate Simpson, in dismissing a possession case in the Tombs Court, said: "I think the Mullin-Gage law is contrary to the Constitution of the United States and the State of New York, and I would give up the eight years I have ahead of me to serve as a Magistrate for one day on the bench of the United States Supreme Court to pass judgment on this law." The Magistrate added that "some of the methods of the liquor in making liquor arrests are outrageous."

A new basis for court actions against police enforcement was made yesterday when Frank E. Holahan, counsel for a Bronx liquor dealers association, appeared before Judge Louis Gibbs in the Bronx County Court and demanded a jury trial of the facts surrounding the issuance of a search warrant with which the police seized $13,000 worth of liquor in a former road house owned by Herman Weisker of City Island. When the warrant was issued Judge Gibbs attached a mandate directing those who claimed ownership of the liquor to show why it should not be confiscated.

In New Jersey it is probable a test case concerning the Van Ness State enforcement law, which goes into effect at midnight tomorrow, will be carried to the State Supreme Court by the city of Jersey City soon after the law becomes operative. Police Commissioner Bentley and Corporation Counsel Milton of Jersey City both doubt the constitutionality of the act. It denies trial by jury in cases growing out of alleged violations of the act.

What the police believe to be the largest still discovered in Brooklyn was seized last night by Detectives Chain and Demio in a house on the corner of Avenue F and East Second street. The detectives went to the cellar, where, they say, Giuseppe Mengolia of 159 Central avenue, Brooklyn, was feeding a fifty gallon container. They arrested Mengolia and seized the apparatus and more than 200 gallons of prepared whiskey.

State troopers from the White Plains station raided Tumble Inn, a well known road house on the Albany Post road near Croton on Hudson, last night, and arrested T. R. M. Simons of 58 West Fifty-ninth street, who they said they saw pouring liquor from a flask into a glass. Several other diners in the place destroyed the "evidence" when the troopers could reach their tables, they said. Simons was bailed out after being held for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Anderson at Croton.

GIRL SHOT DEAD; IAST SEEN WITH BROTHER

His Rifle Found in Road Beside Body.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. LEWISTOWN, Pa., April 28.—Ethna Rhodes, a pretty 14-year-old girl of Reedsville, near here, was found, fatally shot, lying along the main road between Lewistown and McClure at 9:30 o'clock last night.

She died a few minutes later without regaining consciousness. Three revolver shots which shattered her jaw caused her death.

She was seen less than two hours before walking through McClure toward Lewistown with her brother, Read Rhodes, 20 years old, who was in soldier's uniform and carried a repeating rifle. This rifle, but with no cartridges missing from the magazine, was found beside the girl.

The girl wore a man's cap, mackinaw, union suit of man's underwear, man's half hose and a blue shirt.

16 MEXICANS ACQUITTED.

Held in New Mexico on Charges of Columbus Raid Murder.

DEMING, N. M., April 28.—Sixteen Mexicans were acquitted here today of charges of murder in connection with the raid on Columbus, N. M., in 1916, by Villa's rebel troops. The verdict was reached on the first ballot after the jury had deliberated for 25 minutes.

BLAIR'S CONFIRMATION DELAYED BY JOHNSON

New Dry Chief Failed to Aid Senator at Chicago.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. Washington, D. C., April 28.—The Senate today considered several nominations without taking action on the appointment of David H. Blair of North Carolina as Internal Revenue Commissioner. It is understood failure to act was because of the absence of Senator Johnson (Cal.), who is said to be opposed to Mr. Blair's confirmation for his failure to support the Californian for the Presidential nomination at Chicago.

Senator Johnson is expected back tomorrow. It is said he may not try to block confirmation, but will express his views about Blair.

1,500 RUSH TO ENLIST IN 'BOOZE' TROOPS

Major Chandler Assured of High Grade of Men for Up-State Raiders.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. Albany, April 28.—Major George F. Chandler, head of the State Police, left Albany today to seek a location for the barracks for his two new troops. One of them is expected to be in Orange county or some other place equally near New York. The other will be up near the Canadian border, where the men will divide their time between bootlegging and Adirondack Mountain poaching.

Major Chandler has completed the examination of applicants for the two new troops. One hundred and sixteen men are needed, and 1,500 applied for the positions. Because of the rigidity of the examination it is not expected that many more than the required number will get through. Major Chandler said that under the plan he has laid out all the illicit booze selling dives and road houses in the rural sections of the State will be cleaned up within three months and bootlegging will be made unprofitable as to cease to attract the venturesome spirits who have been getting rich under the old order of things.

The State Police head plans to dry up completely one community in a county each week and expects that before the end of the summer rural New York will be absolutely boozeless. By putting one of the new barracks down near New York and the other close to the Canadian border Major Chandler plans to get the bootleggers going and coming. His men can sweep down on them as they cross the boundary line, and those that filter through will be mopped up as they approach the big market for their contraband beverages, New York.

WOMAN ON HUNG JURY FREED; THANKS JUDGE

A jury of eight men and four women, two of whom are wives of Manhattan business men, disgraced in the District Court in Plainfield, Conn., yesterday on a damage claim arising out of an automobile accident after deliberating two hours and twenty minutes. Two of the women stood for the defendant and two for the plaintiff, and they refused to change their opinion.

Three of the women said they enjoyed serving as jurors, but Mrs. Austin W. Andrews said she didn't think her place was in the courtroom. She thanked Judge Crane for discharging the jury in time for her to keep a dinner engagement.

'WET' LINERS' BILL HAS EVEN CHANCE

Marine Committee Now Stands Eleven to Ten Against Measure.

DRYS MUST BE SHOWN

Fate of U. S. Passenger Shipping Rests on Action, It Is Held.

'DRY' VESSELS AVOIDED

Rep. Edmonds Cites Cases Where Americans Shift to Foreign Vessels.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. Washington, D. C., April 28.—Legislation to place American passenger ships on a competing basis with those of foreign countries by allowing the sale of liquor on board outside the three mile zone has a "fighting chance" of being enacted, a survey today by THE NEW YORK HERALD revealed.

"The fighting chance" lies in possibility of convincing enough rock-ribbed prohibitionists in Congress that the future of the American passenger carrying trade hinges on whether vessels flying the flag of this country are to have the same business advantages as those of other countries, according to Representative George Edmonds (Pa.), who introduced the bill to allow American liners to sell liquors on the high seas.

Backed by representatives of all American steamship lines, Mr. Edmonds last session started the fight to put American vessels on the same basis as those of foreign countries. Several days were devoted to hearings before the House Judiciary Committee, but no action was taken after the Anti-Saloon League opposed the plan. Upon reintroduction of the bill this session Mr. Edmonds had it referred to the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, composed of men familiar with shipping problems.

Division Is Close.

A poll of nineteen members of this committee today by THE NEW YORK HERALD showed the numbers opposing the Edmonds bill is smaller than was expected and that the committee is divided rather closely on the question.

Of the nineteen members eleven said they opposed the bill, while eight favored it. The other two members, who could not be seen today, are understood to lean toward the bill. If this be true the committee stands at present eleven to ten against the measure.

But some of those opposing the measure indicated that their views might be changed in the event they were shown the future of the passenger carrying trade depended on exempting the vessels from the Volstead law.

Mr. Edmonds is preparing to show representatives the exact effect of prohibition on American liners and is confident he can convince a considerable number of the prohibitionists of the wisdom and necessity of his measure.

"If I can get the bill reported out of the committee," said Mr. Edmonds, "I feel confident that on the floor of the House we can obtain a majority for it despite the fact that we probably will be opposed by the Anti-Saloon League. I am not trying to weaken the Volstead law and this is not a move toward its repeal. I am trying to save the large number of passenger carrying ships now under the American flag. Their liquor could be sealed as soon as they entered the three mile zone and not opened until they were again on the high seas."

Not to Rush Action.

Mr. Edmonds is not planning to ask immediate action on his bill but will press as soon as the rush of the first few weeks has passed.

"I understand nearly all the Rotary Club delegations which will attend the international association of Rotary clubs meeting in Glasgow are looking on ships flying foreign flags," he said. "Members of three delegations have informed me that the foreign bookings were made for the sole reason that the American ships do not carry liquor. During the last few days an American and a British ship of about the same capacity sailed for the same port. The American ship, the Panhandle, State, carried forty passengers and the British ship 700."

Mr. Edmonds also pointed out that the prohibition law had reduced travel on American ships from foreign countries to the United States to a very low figure.

MEYER MAY BE HEAD OF N. Y. CITY'S PROBE

Machold and Lusk to Have Conference To-day.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. Albany, April 28.—Speaker Edmund Machold of the Assembly will confer with Senator Clayton R. Lusk, the majority leader of the Senate, and other Republican leaders at the Murray Hill Hotel, New York, tomorrow afternoon on the appointment of legislative committees. He arrived in Albany today from his home in Watertown to gather up the list of investigating committees. The most important committee is that to investigate New York City.

Senator Charles W. Walton of Ulster county had been mentioned for chairman of the committee, but Speaker Machold received word that he would decline to act. The chairmanship may now go to Senator Schuyler Meyer of New York, who introduced the New York investigating resolution, although up-State leaders had hoped that the place would go to an up-State man.

DORSEY PUSHES PROBE IN KILLING OF NEGROES

Georgia Governor Learns 'Conditions Are Bad.'

ATLANTA, April 28.—Investigation at Gov. Dorsey's direction was continued today of the killing of three negroes in Southwestern Georgia, following the slaying of a constable and another white man by a negro, who made his escape.

The negroes killed were said to have been accused by members of the mob of having aided in the flight of the negro sought by the mob, but details, and even the name of the county, were withheld at the Capitol for the time being.

First reports of the affair came to Gov. Dorsey in an appeal from a negro who said he had fled from the county, and confirmation of the slayings, including the drowning of an old negro woman, was furnished in a letter from the Sheriff of the county, made public last night, in which he said conditions had been "very bad" but improving, due to the efforts of himself and Sheriffs of three nearby counties.

GOVERNOR USES BILL TO FORWARD BUDGET

Signs Lusk Measure Creating Board to Examine Appropriations.

PRINTING UNDER CONTROL

All State Publications to Be in Charge of Board Headed by Governor.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. Albany, April 28.—Gov. Miller signed today the Lusk bill creating a State Board of Estimate and Control. Under this measure the Governor expects to be able to put State budget making on a scientific basis immediately and not have to wait for the adoption of a constitutional amendment.

The board is to be composed of the Governor, Comptroller and chairmen of the finance committees of the two houses of the Legislature. The board is to adopt plans for the elimination of duplication and waste in State departments and institutions. The annual appropriation sought by departments are to be submitted to it and to the legislative budget committee each year in time to present a carefully prepared budget to the Legislature when it convenes. The board is to take over the duties of the Central Supply Purchasing Committee. The bill appropriates $60,000.

Gov. Miller also signed the Duell bill, under which it is hoped to cut hundreds of thousands of dollars from the State's printing expenses. The bill abolishes the printing board and puts control of all State printing under a board composed of the Governor, or one whom he may designate, and the finance committee chairmen of the two houses of the Legislature. The board is to determine the number of reports to be printed by State officers and departments, the time of printing and issuing them, together with the form, contents and frequency. There is little or no check at present on how many or how extensive these reports shall be.
